FROM THE LIBRARY

Summer reading pays off

From Leader Reports
news@sandsspringsleader.com

Reading can pay off. Ask the winners in this year's summer library reading program.

Each summer, Sand Springs' two public libraries, part of the Tulsa City-County Library System, encourage children to help their reading skills over the summer by reading extra books.

Those who participate in the reading program are eligible to win one of two bicycles.

This year the winner were Allie Betchan and Mia Gilbert.

The bicycles were donated by the Women's Chamber.

Literacy is one of the main goals of the group, said Mary Eubanks, with the Women's Chamber.

"We raise money to purchase books for third graders at Garfield," Eubanks said. "We do that through fundraising events such as selling pies at the annual Rotary Chili Cook-Off."

Sand Springs' libraries are Charles Page Public Library at 551 E. 4th St., 918-549-7521, and Pratt Public Library at 3219 S. 113th W. Ave., 918-549-7638.
