

CELEBRATE FAMILY HISTORY MONTH

WITH TULSA CITY-COUNTY LIBRARY'S GENEALOGY CENTER

Hardesty Regional Library • 8316 E. 93rd St. • 918.549.7691

All programs are held at Hardesty Regional Library unless otherwise noted.

Beginning Genealogy Workshop

SATURDAY, JULY 1 • 9:30 A.M.-1 P.M.

The workshop will explain the steps to take and introduce you to the records that will assist you in searching for your family history.

Start Your Research @ the Library

SATURDAY, JULY 1 • 2-3:30 P.M.

Join Lisa Hansen, Genealogy Center associate, for an overview of the many useful resources for family history researchers available on Tulsa City-County Library's website.

Finding Family With Autosomal DNA

SATURDAY, JULY 8 • 9:30-10:30 A.M.

The most popular DNA test and the one you hear about in Ancestry.com commercials uses the autosomal (or nonsex specific) portion of your DNA. Learn how to interpret your results and find family.

Explore the Rich Resources of the Gilcrease Museum: Art, Archives, Archaeology and Library Collections

SATURDAY, JULY 8 • 10:45-NOON

The Gilcrease Museum is digitizing its manuscript collection. Currently, 20,000 items are available online. Learn what has been digitized and the collections soon to be added.

Genealogy University

SATURDAY, JULY 8 • 1:30-2:30 P.M.

Upgrade your research skills through online classes and webinars. Nancy Shively, Tulsa City-County Library's IT training coordinator, will highlight some of the best genealogy education available on the web.

DIY Digitize!

SATURDAY, JULY 8 • 2:45-4 P.M.

Join Nancy Shively, Tulsa City-County Library's IT training coordinator, on a virtual tour of the resources at the newly remodeled Central Library for digitizing and preserving your family history.

Overview of Ancestry Library Edition

NATHAN HALE LIBRARY • 6038 E. 23RD ST.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 12 • 3-4:30 P.M.

Join us as we explore some of the most helpful resource collections on Ancestry Library Edition.

Genealogy Workshop With Mark Lowe

SATURDAY, JULY 15 • 9:30 A.M.-4 P.M.

Certified genealogist Mark Lowe is our featured speaker for this all-day genealogy event. Lowe will discuss World War I resources for finding family and offer advice on what to do when census records are unclear or absent.

Genealogy Workshop With Mark Lowe

SUNDAY, JULY 16 • 1:30-4 P.M.

Join us for a second day of learning featuring Mark Lowe. Today's topic focuses on resources that complement marriage and divorce records, and what to do when these records seem to be invisible.

Digitization in Action

CENTRAL LIBRARY • FIFTH STREET AND DENVER AVENUE

TUESDAY, JULY 18 • 2-3 P.M. • Looking to save your family history in a more updated format? Learn how you can use our digitization equipment at the Central Library for your genealogy projects.

WWI, Alien Enemies and the FBI

SATURDAY, JULY 22 • 9:30-10:30 A.M.

Legislation passed prior to the U.S. entering World War I created widespread paranoia and fear. Discover how these sentiments created files documenting foreign-born citizens labeled as alien enemies.

Tulsa Responds to the Nation's Call: WWI

SATURDAY, JULY 22 • 10:45-11:45 A.M.

Jaeger presents photos and news items from Tulsa news sources to relay the actual World War I experiences of Tulsa citizens responding to the nation's call.

Researching in the WWI Collection at the University of Tulsa's McFarlin Library

SATURDAY, JULY 22 • 1:30-2:30 P.M.

Marc Carlson, librarian of special collections at McFarlin Library, will discuss using World War I manuscripts, diaries, letters and photographs in historical research.

WWI Era Research at the Genealogy Center

SATURDAY, JULY 22 • 2:45-3:45 P.M.

Learn what resources are available at the Genealogy Center to research your World War I era ancestors.

TCCL's Deep Web Resources for Genealogy Research

THURSDAY, JULY 27 • 2-3 P.M.

Discover what Tulsa City-County Library's deep web has to offer genealogists and how these databases can be beneficial in locating family members.

Hearing loop available in Frossard Auditorium. Switch hearing aid to T-coil.