The Plant Swap is from 1 to 3 p.m. Saturday at Kendall-Whittier Library, 21 S. Lewis Ave. Visitors can also check out seed packets from the library. Customers can check out up to five packets of vegetable, herb or flower seeds per season that are best adapted to the area.

Owen Park's first home tour is Sunday

One of downtown's most unique and artsy neighborhoods is hosting its first home tour Sunday, April 30.

Owen Park Neighborhood Association is hosting its first home tour from noon to 4 p.m. Sunday. The neighborhood is full of 1920s Craftsman houses and is one of Tulsa's designated historic neighborhoods. The neighborhood has been one of the most popular downtown-adjacent neighborhoods in recent years as a result of Downtown Tulsa's revitalization.

Tickets are $10 at the door of any home on the tour. Addresses for the home tour include: 332 N. Rosedale Ave., 301 N. Rosedale Ave., 515 N. Rosedale Ave., 1401 W. Easton St. and 524 N. Santa Fe Ave.

All ticket proceeds will be donated directly to the Owen Park Neighborhood Association. Owen Park neighborhood faces Owen Park, which was Tulsa's first park located northwest of the downtown Tulsa on West Edison Street. Guests are encouraged to bring any unwanted books to donate to the public neighborhood corner library.

For information, call Unique Properties at 918-760-6959.

Lunch & Learn session to include

The Tulsa Master Gardeners Lunch & Learn session, Tuesday, May 2, will be hosted at the Tulsa Central Library's outdoor classroom with Grogg's Green Barn.

The event, titled "Perennials and Annuals, Oklahoma Provens," will feature a presentation in the library's new outdoor courtyard from 12:10 to 12:50 p.m.

It will be a "zen" like experience with bench seating, chairs and yoga mats to see the presentation on the Jumbotron screen on the wall of the courtyard. There will be more than 100 Oklahoma proven planting materials for the free public through this informational class.

The programs will be held at the Tulsa City-County Library, 400 Civic Center; for information call 918-549-7323.
