

Touch-a-Truck is 'honking' fun

BY JENNIFER MCQUADE
Owasso Library Branch Manager

We are so excited about the Owasso Library's annual Touch-A-Truck event at 10 a.m. to noon, Saturday, April 30. Bring the entire family to explore big trucks and vehicles at this free outdoor event. Families will have the opportunity for hands-on exploration of the vehicles. Enjoy sitting in the driver's seat, honking the horn of your favorite truck and interacting with community helpers like police officers, firefighters and construction workers. Snack on refreshments from local food truck vendors, listen to live music and make fun memories together at the Owasso Library Touch-A-Truck.

Scheduled trucks include the library bookmobile, Owasso fire engine and police cars, a pink cement truck from GCC Mid-Continent Concrete, a City of Owasso refuse truck and dump truck, a PSO bucket truck, a Storm Tracker truck from Channel 6 and even the Scooby Doo mystery machine.

Enjoy live music by John Dellavedova. Shivers Snoballs truck will have snoballs available for purchase and are featuring a fabulous new menu. The library will be giving away free construction hats until supplies run out. Summer Reading Program event guides will also be available at this event, so you can start planning which free performances you want to see this summer.

The Owasso Library staff look forward to this event every year. We love seeing families spending time together, kids smiling and exploring and everyone interacting with the wonderful community volunteers who take time from their busy lives to bring their vehicles to our event. We believe the Touch-A-Truck event provides a memorable learning experience for kids. This kind of experience can spark a child's imagination and may possibly even lead to a future career. And of course we hope this leads you into the library where you can find books on any vehicle, or anything else that inspires your imagination.
