Circle Cinema to show film about Holocaust survivor

A full-length film telling the story of Holocaust survivor Tomi Reichental will be shown at 2 p.m. April 17 at Circle Cinema, 10 S. Lewis Ave.

Reichental will be the featured speaker this spring at the Yom Hashoah/Interfaith Holocaust Commemoration in Tulsa, sponsored by the Tulsa Council for Holocaust Education, the Tulsa City-County Library and numerous local interfaith and community organizations

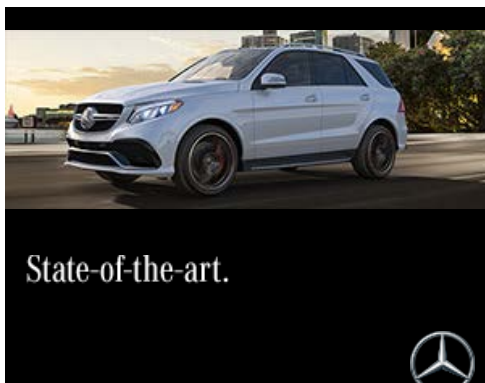

The documentary film — “Till the Tenth Generation: The Story of Tomi Reichental” — will tell the story that Reichental relates in his memoir, “I Was a Boy in Belsen.”

For movie ticket information, go to circlecinema.com or call 918-585-3504.

Reichental was 9 years old in 1944 when he was deported from his native Slovakia to the Bergen-Belsen concentration camp. After the war, he lived in Ireland, married, had a family and, for more than 50 years, never spoke of his ordeal. He will speak at 7 p.m. May 5 at the Holocaust Commemoration at Temple Israel.

celebrate 111 years Sunday

Christ Temple CME Church, 2802 N. Lewis Ave., will celebrate its 111th anniversary Sunday.

Special guests for the 11 a.m. service will be the Rev. Larry D. Brooks and members of Community Baptist Church in Lubbock, Texas.

The church originally was called Brown Chapel Colored Methodist Episcopal Church in the days before Oklahoma statehood. It underwent several name changes through the years.

The church's small, white, frame building was burned in the Tulsa Race Riot in 1921, rebuilt, and then destroyed by a tornado in 1960. Its current facility was opened in 1967.

The Rev. Stacey Cole is pastor.

Arrow Heights Baptist's Racial Reconciliation service is Sunday

The Rev. Andy Taylor, pastor of Arrow Heights Baptist Church, will be the speaker at the Tulsa Together Spring Event at 6 p.m. Sunday at Harvest Time Outreach Ministries, 2333 E. 48th St. North.

The Christian Ministers Alliance, headed by the Rev. W.R. Casey, has sponsored the service to promote racial reconciliation in the spring and fall for 23 years.

Before the service, at 5 p.m., the Rev. Michael Gabbert, Evergreen Baptist Church, will lead small group discussions on the subject: "11 a.m. Sunday — the most segregated hour in America."

The Rev. Anthony Carpenter, pastor of New Hope Baptist Church, will be master of ceremonies, and music will be provided by the Central High School Choir, Arrow Heights Baptist Church, Harvest Time Outreach Ministries and Native Praise.

James Floyd, principal chief of the Muscogee (Creek) Nation, will be the special guest.

The fall Tulsa Together service will be Oct. 2 at First Baptist Church North Tulsa.

Donations of bottled water, canned food, household goods and cash will be accepted for the victims of the recent tornado. For more information, call Casey at 918 951-7407.

Art fair vendors sought for upcoming expo fundraiser

St. Augustine Catholic Church, 1720 E. Apache St., is accepting vendors for its upcoming Spring Arts, Crafts and Business Expo fundraiser.

Handcrafted items in various art media are needed. Commercial vendors are welcome. Table rental is $25. For more information, call Myrna Avance at 918-809-7265.

The event will be from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. April 30.
