

Kids 'paws' to read to canine listeners

BY JOHN FERGUSON

News Editor

john.ferguson@baledger.com

It was hard to tell who had the most fun: The readers or the dogs?

Let's turn the page and call it a tie during the Broken Arrow Library's Paws for Reading event on Aug. 12.

Nala and Ab were read books and listened intently at times and while laying down on other occasions.

This event even attracted the Russell family from a suburb of Baltimore, who happened to be visiting Broken Arrow. Sisters Sara and Briana got a chance to read to a different canine companion.

Turning the page was never more fun

1. Briana Russell shares a moment with Ab. 2. Lily Victor was a bundle of energy, but took time to pat Nala. 3. Calet Mons reads to Nala. 4. Anna Lee Cederwalk gets introduced to Nala. 5. Sara Russell, Briana's sister, also got to read. 6. Briana Russell reads while Ab relaxes

JOHN FERGUSON PHOTOS