Read the book first: upcoming movie releases

Every Secret Thing by Laura Lippman

On a July afternoon two little girls take a wrong turn onto an unfamiliar Baltimore street — and encounter an abandoned stroller with a baby inside it.

The girls only want to be helpful, to be good. But whatever the girls' real intentions, things go horribly wrong and three families are destroyed.

Seven years later the girls have come home again — when a child disappears, under disturbingly similar circumstances.

Homicide detective Nancy Porter was a rookie cop when she solved the original case, and now she must find where guilt truly lies to save the life of the missing child.

Madame Bovary by Gustave Flaubert
Emma Bovary is beautiful and bored, trapped in her marriage to a mediocre doctor and stifled by the predictability of provincial life.

An avid reader of sentimental novels, she longs for passion and seeks escape in fantasies of high romance, voracious spending and eventually adultery.

But her affairs bring her disappointment and the consequences are devastating. Gustave Flaubert's Madame Bovary is one of the most influential — and scandalous — novels of the 19th century, causing a moral outcry when it was published in 1857.

Me and Earl and the Dying Girl by Jesse Andrews

Fans of John Green's The Fault in Our Stars will want to read this book, described as "the funniest book you'll ever read about death."

On the first day of his senior year, Greg Ginn... (text cut off)

Paper Towns by John Green

Quentin Jacobsen has spent a lifetime loving Margo Roth Spiegelman from afar. So when she cracks open a window and climbs back into his life, he follows.

When their all-nighter ends and a new day breaks, Margo has disappeared. But Q soon learns that there are clues — and they're for him.

As he embarks on an exhilarating adventure to find her, he discovers the closer he gets, the less he sees the girl he thought he knew.

No. 1 Bestselling author John Green crafts a brilliantly funny and moving coming-of-age journey about true friendship and true love.

The Scorch Trials by James Dashner
Solving the Maze was supposed to be the end. Thomas was sure that escape from the Maze would mean freedom for him and the Gladers.

But phase two, The Scorch, has just begun. The Gladers have two weeks to cross through the Scorch — the most burned-out section of the world.

The odds are stacked against them as there are other groups who need to destroy the Gladers to survive. Friendships will be tested, loyalties will be broken and all bets are off.

This is the second book in the No. 1 New York Times bestselling Maze Runner series and is perfect for fans of The Hunger Games and Divergent.

Into Thin Air by Jon Krakauer

Into Thin Air is the definitive account of the deadliest season in the history of Everest by Jon Krakauer, the acclaimed journalist and author of the bestseller Into the Wild.

Krakauer, an accomplished climber, was on an assignment for Outside Maga...
