Teen Tech Month

Libraries are for Making

The library will be a center for community, reading, lifelong learning and access to information for all.

Kid" Live Board Game from 2-3 p.m. Thursday March 19. Be part of a live board game by answering trivia questions, participating in activities and avoided the dreaded cheese touch. The class is for ages 10-14.

This is one of the Tulsa City-County Library's five goals. In order to achieve this goal, we must change to keep up with new technologies and to meet the needs of our customers. As a result, library spaces and programs are evolving to become more interactive places to participate, create, collaborate and have fun.

MCQUADE

These changes are reflected in the theme for this year's Teen Tech Month — Libraries are for Making.

All month long at the Librarium in downtown Tulsa, teens will enjoy free 3-D printing all month long. Attend one of our 3-D printing orientations and learn all about designing and printing. Registration is required. Call (918) 549-7349 to make an appointment.

Teen Tech Month 2015

Don't miss these fun opportunities to celebrate Teen Tech Month with crafts, gaming, coding and much more at your library. More than 50 fun and free events for teens and tweens are taking place at Tulsa City-County Library locations in March for Teen Tech Month.

Live the Caveman Lifestyle at the Kishner Library in Sperry from 3-4:30 p.m. Wednesday March 25. Join us for the latest in technological advancements...from 1,000,000 B.C. You'll get to check and update your Cavebook wall and build the latest craze...the wheel. You'll also see what the latest buzz is about fire. The class is for ages 10-18.

Visit teens.tulsalibrary.org for a full list.

Interactive Displays

The Owasso Library staff creates new displays throughout the library every month. This month the featured display in the front lobby is based on the popular "I Spy" books for kids.

In Owasso, you can participate in Computer Programming for Beginners from 4-5:15 p.m. Thursday March 19. We'll host an hour of guid-
