The Broken Arrow downtown library began a new chapter in its history.

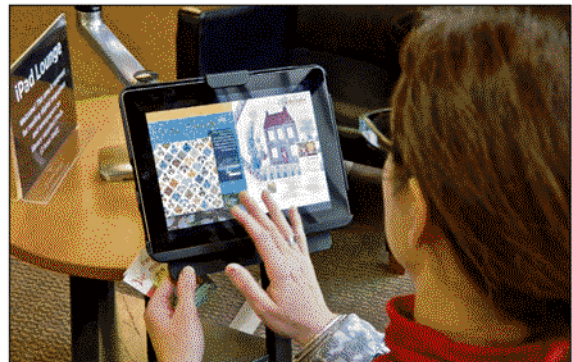

Monday, Dec. 15, the newly remodeled facility was unveiled. It took six weeks to finish, but was worth the wait.

The 300 W. Broadway location got new carpeting, shorter shelves, new clearly marked signs and some new displays.

One of the displays was called "Quick Picks" for the new and popular books to be snapped up and read. There's even an iPad lounge with a special library application that can be used from one's home.

"The lower shelves opens up all the natural light and beautiful windows," said Rebecca Howard, branch manager. "The wood ceiling stands out now."

The remodel also seems less crowded and easier to get around the shelves.
