Tulsa, Okla. — There's power in numbers, and that saying is true for LIBRARIES too.

Tulsa's City-County Library has teamed up with a Missouri-based system called Mobius.

Long story short, Tulsa library patrons can now access millions of additional books and materials from 70 Missouri libraries and 42 Colorado libraries for free, just like they would at a Tulsa library.

Once you check out your item, it will be delivered to the Tulsa branch of your choice in about a week, and the library will let you know when it gets there.
