

Tulsa part of library consortium

August 28, 2014

---

Tulsans' reading list is about to get longer with free, fast and easy access to millions of additional titles.

Tulsa City-County Library was the first out-of-state partner to join MOBIUS, a consortium of public and academic libraries which now includes over 70 Missouri libraries, 42 Colorado libraries and Tulsa City-County Library. This new partnership expands customer access to more than 60-100,000 items.

If you can't find a specific item in Tulsa City-County Library's catalog, click the "Search MOBIUS" link to automatically begin the search for your item in the MOBIUS catalog. Select an item and choose your Tulsa City-County Library branch to pick up the materials. The request appears in a "My TCCL" area, indicating you have successfully placed the hold. Patrons can track the requested item on their account and will be notified when it is due and be able to renew in the same way that they renew TCCL materials. Their MOBIUS material will arrive in approximately one week and you will be notified that it is here. MOBIUS items are available out for three weeks and can be renewed up to two times.

"MOBIUS expands the number of items that are available to Tulsa City-County Library customers," said Sue Anderson, collection management manager. "It allows easy access to millions of books and titles that we could not provide to our customers before joining."

Tulsa City-County Library customers are encouraged to visit their local library and have staff show how easy it is to search and request materials through MOBIUS.

For more information, call the AskUs Hotline, 918-549-7323, or visit www.tulsalibrary.org.

Tulsans' reading list is about to get longer with free, fast and easy access to millions of additional titles.

News | News Briefs

« DOD policy change welcomed here - No marijuana vote on Nov. 4 ballot »

© 2014 Tulsa Beacon