WorldCom whistleblower to speak Tuesday

WorldCom whistleblower Cynthia Cooper will recount her experience uncovering one of the nation's largest corporate scandals when she speaks at a Tuesday luncheon to be held 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. at the DoubleTree by Hilton Tulsa Downtown, 616 W. Seventh St.

The luncheon is presented by Oklahoma Business Ethics Consortium (OK Ethics) in conjunction with IABC/Tulsa, The Association for Women in Communications Tulsa Chapter and PRSA Tulsa.

In 2002, Cooper led a small team of auditors, frequently in secret and at night, to uncover almost $4 billion of unethical and illegal accounting practices at WorldCom designed to inflate assets and stock price. The internal audit team alerted the company's audit committee and board of directors, who took swift action. Soon after, the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission began an investigation that uncovered about $11 billion in inflated assets.

Cooper is an internationally recognized speaker, best-selling author and consultant. She was named one of Time Magazine's Persons of the Year.

Cost is $25 for presenting sponsor members and $35 for nonmembers. Reservations are required and seats are limited. Register online at okethics.org.

TPS gets CNG compressor from Bellmon Awards

Sustainable Tulsa, the Southside Rotary Club of Tulsa and The Henry Bellmon Sustainability Awards formally dedicated a compressed natural gas compressor to TPS.

The compressor, which was made possible with a $60,000 grant from the Bellmon Awards, will be used to fuel part of the district's fleet of 148 CNG-powered school buses.

In its fifth year, the Bellmon Awards, a collaboration between Sustainable Tulsa and Southside Rotary Club of Tulsa, aim to raise awareness and reward those people, agencies, organizations, tribes or companies that dedicate themselves to a balanced approach toward quality of life, responsible economic growth, and environmental stewardship.

Each year these organizations choose a project to receive the proceeds from the Bellmon Awards Banquet. Tulsa Public Schools was chosen as the 2011 to 2013 beneficiary for their commitment to clean-burning CNG school buses.

The CNG compressor was manufactured and installed by Tulsa-based Tulsa Gas Technologies.
