2104 Interfaith Trialogue series to explore the challenge of civil discourse

From Staff Reports News@SouthCountyLeader.com

Join local religious leaders and experts as they address the topic "The Challenge of Civil Discourse: Religious Passion, Extremism and the Problem of Perception" at the Oklahoma Center for Community and Justice's 2014 Interfaith Trialogue Series in February.

Sponsored by OCCJ and funded in part by the Tulsa Library Trust's Alfred E. Aaronson Lecture Series Endowment, the three-part discussion series is scheduled on Sundays, Feb. 2, Feb. 9 and Feb. 16 from 2 to 4 p.m. at varying locations.

Dr. Gary Peluso-Verdend, president of Phillips Theological Seminary, will moderate each session. The programs are free and open to the public. Donations are welcome.

Session 1, "The Good," Feb. 2, 2 to 4 p.m., Peace Academy, 4620 S. Irvington - Kindness. Empathy. Compassion. When religious passion is channeled by a true believer, it can be a powerful contributor to the common good.

Session 2, "The Bad," Feb. 9, 2 to 4 p.m., Boston Avenue United Methodist Church, 1301 S. Boston Ave. - There's a fine line between passion and extremism. That's where religion becomes angry, triumphant. God loves me more than God loves you.

Session 3, "The Media," Feb. 16, 2 to 4 p.m., Congregation B'Nai Emunah, 17th and Peoria - The trouble is that we can't always see these things clearly. We rely on the media, but it loves a fight. How can we tell what's true or false?

The Oklahoma Center for Community and Justice is dedicated to achieving respect and understanding for all people through education, advocacy and dialogue.

The Tulsa Library Trust's Alfred E. Aaronson Lecture Series Endowment was initiated in 1969 on the occasion of Alfred E. Aaronson's retirement from the Tulsa City-County Library Commission, the Gilcrease Museum Board and the Tulsa Community Relations Commission. Funds collected in his honor were dedicated to bringing authorities to the community to stimulate thought and action in fields where voids exist and offer other points of view.
