Pirates invade Tulsa as "Disney Live! Pirates and Princesses" hits Tulsa on Saturday and Sunday. COURTESY / Feld Entertainment

So the kids are back in school, back in their old habits in the doldrums of winter and probably needing a little fun and excitement.

Get everybody out of the house this week and check out these great family-friendly activities across Tulsa.

Disney Live! Pirates and Princesses

Disney's beautiful princesses and pirate scoundrels come to life Saturday and Sunday.

In what's been described as "Broadway for toddlers," many different heroes and villains will dance and sing on the stage at the Expo Square Pavilion.

The live show combines the Disney Junior programs "Sofia the First" and "Jake and the Neverland Pirates" into one colorful and exciting show.

Show organizers also suggest arriving 10 minutes early for a chance to see Disney Junior star Doc McStuffins, the 6-year-old toy doctor.

Showtimes are 1 and 4 p.m. Saturday and noon and 3 p.m. Sunday at Expo Square Pavilion, 19th Street and New Haven Avenue. Tickets are $15-$35 and are available at the box office, exposquare.com or 918-376-6000.

Mini-Masters at Gilcrease Museum

For the really little ones, Gilcrease is offering a chance to jump into the fine art world early.

Some of the museum's favorite and best-known artwork will be on display this spring, and on Thursday and Friday, museum experts will be on hand to guide kids age 3-6 through some of the best art around.

Age-specific activities are planned 10-11 a.m. Thursday and Friday. Activities are free with museum admission.

Space is limited in these classes, so be sure to register early by calling 918-596-2774 or emailing sarah-wright@utulsa.edu.

Cookie Construction Day

Attention girls: Put your engineering skills to the test Saturday at the Hardesty Regional Library's cookie construction day.

Girls ages 10 to 18 will be paired with professional women engineers, designers and architects to build free-standing structures out of empty Girl Scout cookie boxes.

The structures will have an Olympic theme ahead of the 2014 Winter Olympics in Sochi, Russia.

Events start at 9 a.m. and will continue through the day at Hardesty Regional Library, 8316 E. 93rd St.

ABA Sooner Nationals

Check out the high-flying pedal action at the ABA Sooner Nationals, featuring BMX bike riders racing around the Ford Truck Arena at Expo Square from Friday through Sunday.

Some of the best in BMX racing will show their skills this weekend, racing over ramps and through tight corners in close proximity.

Races start at 5 p.m. Friday, 11:30 a.m. Saturday and 8 a.m. Sunday.

And best of all, it's free to watch.
