and children the time to play together and bond in an early learning environment. Each week will feature a different resource profession," said Youth Librarian Jennifer McQuade.

Some of these resource professions will be pediatricians, nutritionist, speech therapists, musicians and yoga teachers, all trained and certified in their respective fields.

"The workshop is completely free and we hope to offer it two to three early childhood and family services that has been successfully implemented in more than 380 libraries in 27 states.

In addition to the Owasso branch, three other Tulsa City-County Library branch libraries were funded and are piloting this program in the Tulsa area. Family Place Libraries provide a welcoming community environment with resources that families need to nurture their children's development during the critical first first and best teacher," McQuade said.

The last day to register for the workshop is Jan. 22. It is limited to 12 families and siblings age 5 and younger are welcome to attend.

The workshop will be held every Friday at 10 a.m. beginning Jan. 24 and will last about an hour. It will end Feb. 21.

To enroll in the workshop, call (918) 549-7624 and ask for Jennifer or email jmcquad@tulsalibrary.org.
